

Young Rural Planners Identify Need for Bike Park in Petitcodiac

Times & Transcript

July 27, 2010

A group of young rural planners hopes to convince Petitcodiac village council of the benefits of building a bike park for youth. The youths are taking part in a special summer program to introduce youth to the concept of sustainable community development and future planning. The program is part of a much larger project to create an Integrated Sustainable Community Plan for Petitcodiac with the help of Fundy Model Forest, in partnership with Mount Allison's Rural and Small Town Programme and village council.
